

GMW Architects & GMW Architects International Ltd

Quality Policy

GMW offer professional services as urban designers, architects, interior designers and project consultancy incorporating project management and project monitoring.

1.1 Our Ethos

"Our mission is to design with skill and passion, as respected advocates of fine buildings and cities. In our projects we focus on the activities and aspirations of people, effective functionality, clear identity, good manners and sustainability. We aim to manipulate space, light, colour, materials and technology to bring delight and inspiration to the places we create. We extol lightness, clarity, transparency, community and life's potential for a richness of experience. We are excited by elegance in construction through economy of means.

We operate as a skilled and energetic group of architects, designers and technicians working with the best possible resources and administrative support, in an atmosphere of calm creativity and empowered team work.

To do this, we must also be efficient and profitable and work together with a clear idea of the best use of each individual's time, skills, experience and energy, directed by good management within a potent structure of command and accountability. This way, our client's requirements will most effectively be met and everyone in the practice may enjoy a sense of purpose, value, corporate self-esteem and personal fulfilment."

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Lyn Edwards'.

Lyn Edwards
Senior Partner

1.2 Delivery of our mission

In delivering our mission, the Partners are committed to providing services in accordance with high quality standards, which meet or exceed all our client's reasonable expectations and their respective specified contractual and project requirements.

As the means of achieving our objectives, the Partners will develop, maintain and continually improve a Quality Management System which conforms to the requirements of BS EN ISO 9001:2008. So that we can both achieve and maintain a consistently high quality in all the commissions we undertake, our Quality Management System will ensure that proper communication, control and documentation is achieved with respect to all work undertaken within the scope of our certification.

All members of GMW personnel are responsible for promoting the aims of our ethos and for familiarising themselves with, and working within, the requirements of this quality policy and the accompanying Quality Manual which defines the Quality Management System. The Partners will ensure that all those associated with the delivery of our objectives are supported according to their individual needs for personal development, training and resources.

The Quality Management Partner and Quality Manager are our appointed representatives, responsible for monitoring and ensuring the correct and effective implementation of our Quality Management System.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'John Jackson'.

John Jackson
Partner